BATTLE OF STANDARD OIL.

SLOWLY the veil is lifting from the Mexican situation and it is becoming more apparent daily that the real struggle is between the Standard Oil company and the Pearson syndicate, representing an aggregation of capital that is scarcely inferior to the wealth of the Rockefeller crew that has enjoyed uninterrupted sway for many years. The incorporated title of the Pearsons is the British Agula company, which was supposed to have the ear of Huerta with a view to gaining control of the enormous oil fields of the neighboring republic. Standard Oil has currently been supposed to be throwing its money and influence to the revolutionists but, if late reports are verified, it would appear that somebody has got what is called in the vulgar parlance of the gringo, the "double cross." Yesterday Carranza, head of the revolutionists, recognized the Pearson syndicate to the extent of granting it certain concessions for the extension of the Mexico Northwestern railroad. This was the first crack out of the box after the constitutionalists captured Juarez, and the Standard Oil lost the first round.

The London Morning Post dwells on the situation as follows:

If reports based on something more than mere rumor are reliable, the American oil monopoly had no small share in the events that led to the expulsion of President Diaz and the success of Senor Madero. It is a fact and not a rumor that Americans enjoyed the favor of Senor Madero and intrigued against British interests, and it is also a fact that since Huerta came into power that Americans have lost their advantage and the English are in a better position than they were.

Rumor has it that Americans, convinced that there is nothing to be hoped for from General Huerta, are financing General Carranza and will look for all the reward if he comes into power. The oil fields of Mexico are so enormously rich, and assure such great wealth to their possessors, that it is not surprising that there should be keen rivalry on the part of great financiers to secure their control, or that both sides should use the disturbed condition of the country to their advantage.

Then it must be borne in mind that the British government itself is not above suspicion, as it is eager to secure concessions to insure a supply of petroleum for the vast fleet of oil-burning warships now under construction and in a state of conversion. The English ambassador, who made such a bad break by rushing to criticize Huerta, is now admitted to be interested in the Pearson syndicate, and his undiplomatic conduct is resented as an unwarranted intrusion of personal interests.

Under the circumstances, with the knowledge of the pernicious activity of antagonistic oil interests, it would seem to be a good idea to turn the settlement of the whole matter over to the rival companies and let them fight it out without any cost to this country.

Teddy apparently has designs on Argentina. Since he has been banished by his own people he is seeking to ingratiate himself with the Latin races by declaring the Monroe doctrine is a "has been." But what's the diff? His political funeral occurred last November. This is a bad year for trouble-makers like Huerta and Teddy.

If country publishers would do as their city contemporaries do, and refuse to send the paper unless it is paid for, there would not be such a constant wailing for debtors to come through.

With the strike on the Sunset lines settled, Uncle Sam can breathe easier, as a tie-up of that road would seriously interfere with movements of men and ammunition to the border.

Chicago is in mourning. Three big firms have decided to move to Hoboken, where they can get the benefit of cheap rates to the Pacific coast after the opening of the canal.

The Iowa supreme court should take a vacation and spend it in California. According to a recent decision of that tribunal, it is tantamount to felony to puff real estate too highly. But then the Native Sons would invade the referendum for they could not stand that form of suppression.

Somebody is sitting on the safety valve along the Mexican border, and when he gets off there will be something popping. It won't be steam, either.

Recovered From Lung Trouble—Now Insured

Insurance companies will not accept any one affected with Lung Trouble. When you know a man who has been afflicted and who later has been insured, such action means that the policy-holder must be in a very good state of health. Cases have been reported when Lung Sufferers, after taking Eckman's Alternative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, have successfully passed the medical test of insurance companies. Read this case:

237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 "Dear Sir: About a year and a half ago my health rapidly failed until at the end of six months my weight had fallen to 125 pounds. I was troubled with night sweats, severe cough and was very weak. About this time I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied I went to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stages of consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alternative."
 (Affidavit) W. E. GEE.
 Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe throat and lung affections, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, stubborn colds and in up-building the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons, or habit-forming drugs. For sale by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.
